

National Support School – UTC Reading

National Support School

designated by

National College for Teaching & Leadership

UTC Reading is a university technical college that delivers computer science and engineering excellence for 14-19 year olds. The school opened in September 2013 in a newly refurbished building catering for up to 600 students who have a passion for computing and/or engineering.

UTC Reading works closely with a large number of local and national employers to ensure that its students are well prepared for the world of work and places equal importance on pathways that lead to university or apprenticeships.

Despite a short time in existence, the UTC received an 'outstanding' grading from Ofsted in May 2015. It has since been appointed a National Support School and would be delighted to work with any school, in particular on the following:

- Leadership development/support
- Financial management
- HR
- Data (KS4 and post 16)
- Quality assurance and improvement
- Developing industry links
- Computing and engineering
- Technical qualifications

If you are interested in receiving any support from UTC Reading, please email jessica.bryant@utcreading.org.uk.
